

11th Annual White Privilege Conference/Youth Leadership Conference

LaCrosse , Wisconsin (April 8, 9, 10, 2010)

How Can I Promote Diversity in My High School?

This is a question that most administrators, teachers, support staff, parents and community members ask themselves during the course of a school year. We know that the demographics of the country continue to change and that is reflected in our student body and communities. The change will continue and we need to prepare our students, staff, parents and community to embrace this happening. One way to approach the change is to educate ourselves by attending conferences/workshops and taking an active role in our schools and communities as it relates to diversity through dialogue and personal involvement.

The 11th Annual White Privilege Conference will be coming to LaCrosse, Wisconsin this April 8, 9, 10, 2010. The conference will be offering a Youth Leadership Conference for High School age students along with the conference for adults. Special programs/speakers will be set up for the students the first two days, with the last day having students involved with the other participants. Attached you will find the Youth Leadership Conference flyer that gives you information related to the youth conference. The conference will also be hosting a one day Youth Institute on Wed. (April 7, 2010) before the three day conference. This one day youth conference would cost students $60. More detailed information will be sent out during the next several weeks. We would encourage you to go onto the White Privilege Conference web site for more detailed information about this exciting opportunity for your students and staff; www.uccs.edu/wpc .
