

WHAT ARE PEOPLE SAYING ABOUT CATALYST?

“Thank you for bringing these ‘high and lofty’ ideas down to earth. By summarizing the key concepts of family systems theory, emotional intelligence, and clear communication into simple, practical, usable tools, this six-hour workshop has been more valuable than my past twenty years of continuing education combined.”

“I would have never gotten around to reading the books you mentioned, but I am so thankful that you are teaching these things in our conference. This is exactly what we need, brought to us in a very helpful way”

“I want to thank you for treating laity as equals to clergy. Letting us do this together and talking about our leadership as ministry is empowering. We really need this kind of thing in our church.”

“I’ve known all this—none of this is new; but all of it is new because of the way you pulled it all together. This makes the ideas real and doable.”

TOGETHER, WE CREATE THE FUTURE

Do you want a future of misinformation, misunderstanding, and miscommunication?

Do you know anyone who does?

Do you want a future of clear communication, healthy relationships, creative environments, and collaborative leadership?

LET'S TALK ABOUT

CATALYST

Catalyst is concepts, tools, and processes for building healthy relationships, creating collaborative leadership, and promoting clear communication.

Catalyst draws on family systems theory, brain research, and leadership theory, AND you don't have to be an expert in any of these subjects to be a Catalyst or to use Catalyst

Catalysts are disciples of Jesus Christ, working together to transform the world into the kingdom of God.

Catalysts are people who deepen their understanding of one another and work more efficiently and effectively with clergy and lay partners to help lead the church into the future we all want to see.

Catalyst is conversation, interaction, retreats, and relationships . . . any means of learning and sharing our passion for healthier relationships and creative, positive environments.

Catalyst is viral. When laity and clergy leaders attend a Catalyst event, here's what to expect:

- A learning experience that helps us grow as Christian spiritual leaders;
- To use and learn simple, practical tools for positive transformation and change in groups and congregations;
- Excitement about sharing these ideas and tools with others and plans for using them through classes, conversations, retreats . . .
